Required Text and Readings

- Cases in Public Relations Management – The Rise of Social Media and Activism – Third Edition – Patricia Swann
- Additional Readings may be assigned and posted to Sakai, made available in class or in the Park Library

Sakai

Other than this syllabus, important information can be found on Saka: <http://sakai.unc.edu>.

Updates will be frequent, so check back often for important course information. You are responsible for any course changes that may be made on Sakai, including changes to the syllabus or assignments.

Attendance

University Policy

See University-approved absences here: <https://uaao.unc.edu/>

Class Policy

For situations when an absence is not University approved (e.g., a job interview or club activity, etc.), instructors determine their own approach to missed classes and make-up assessments and assignments: <http://catalog.unc.edu/policies-procedures/attendance-grading-examination/>

Honor Code

Each student will conduct themselves within the guidelines of the University honor system (<http://honor.unc.edu>). All academic work should be done with the high levels of honesty and integrity that this University demands. You are expected to produce your own work. If you have any questions about your responsibility or your instructor's responsibility as a faculty member under the Honor Code, please see the course instructor or Senior Associate Dean C. A. Tuggle, or you may speak with a representative of the Student Attorney Office or the Office of the Dean of Students.

ARS

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill facilitates the implementation of reasonable accommodations, including resources and services, for students with disabilities, chronic medical conditions, a temporary disability or pregnancy complications resulting in barriers to fully accessing University courses, programs and activities. Accommodations are determined through the Office of Accessibility Resources and Service (ARS) for individuals with documented qualifying disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. See the ARS Website for contact information: <https://ars.unc.edu> or email ars@unc.edu.

Counseling and Psychological Services

CAPS is strongly committed to addressing the mental health needs of a diverse student body through timely access to consultation and connection to clinically appropriate services, whether for short or long-term needs. Go to their website: <https://caps.unc.edu/> or visit their facilities on the third floor of the Campus Health Services building for a walk-in evaluation to learn more.

Title IX

Any student who is impacted by discrimination, harassment, interpersonal (relationship) violence, sexual violence, sexual exploitation, or stalking is encouraged to seek resources on campus or in the community. Reports can be made online to the EOC at <https://eoc.unc.edu/report-an-incident/>. Please contact the University's Title IX Coordinator (Elizabeth Hall, interim – titleixcoordinator@unc.edu), Report and Response Coordinators in the Equal Opportunity and Compliance Office (reportandresponse@unc.edu), Counseling and Psychological Services (confidential), or the Gender Violence Services Coordinators (gvsoc@unc.edu; confidential) to discuss your specific needs. Additional resources are available at safe.unc.edu.

Policy on Non-Discrimination

The University is committed to providing an inclusive and welcoming environment for all members of our community and to ensuring that educational and employment decisions are based on individuals' abilities and qualifications. Consistent with this principle and applicable laws, the University's Policy Statement on Non-Discrimination offers access to its educational programs and activities as well as employment terms and conditions without respect to race, color, gender, national origin, age, religion, creed, genetic information, disability, veteran's status, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression. Such a policy ensures that only relevant factors are considered and that equitable and consistent standards of conduct and performance are applied. If you are experiencing harassment or discrimination, you can seek assistance and file a report through the Report and Response Coordinators (see contact info at safe.unc.edu) or the Equal Opportunity and Compliance Office, or online to the EOC at <https://eoc.unc.edu/report-an-incident/>.

Diversity Statement

I strive to make this classroom an inclusive space for all students. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to improve; I appreciate any suggestions. More broadly, our school has adopted diversity and inclusion mission and vision statements with accompanying goals. These complement the University policy on prohibiting harassment and discrimination. The Dean of Students (Suite 1106, Student Academic Services Building, CB# 5100, 450 Ridge Road, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-5100 or [919] 966-4042) has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the University's nondiscrimination policies.

Accreditation

Hussman's accrediting body outlines a number of values you should be aware of and competencies you should be able to demonstrate by the time you graduate from our program. Learn more about them here:

<http://www2.ku.edu/~acejmc/PROGRAM/PRINCIPLES.SHTML#vals&comps>

No single course could possibly give you all of these values and competencies; but collectively, our classes are designed to build your abilities in each of these areas. In this class, we will address a number of the values and competencies, with special emphasis on:

- demonstrate an understanding of the history and role of professionals and institutions in shaping communications;
- demonstrate an understanding of gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation and, as appropriate, other forms of diversity in domestic society in relation to mass communications.
- demonstrate an understanding of the diversity of peoples and cultures and of the significance and impact of mass communications in a global society.
- demonstrate an understanding of professional ethical principles and work ethically in

- pursuit of truth, accuracy, fairness and diversity;
- think critically, creatively and independently;
- write correctly and clearly in forms and styles appropriate for the communications professions, audiences and purposes they serve

Grading and Assignments

Course Structure and Preparation

The case study method is the major teaching tool for this course. Group discussion of cases is the heart of the class. Each student is expected to have read assigned cases and be ready to discuss them critically come class time.

NOTE: Class attendance and participation is essential. It will be impossible to get an "A" in this course without active and thoughtful participation in the discussion of the cases. Students will also be called on to present case facts, as well as analyze public relations strategies for assigned readings.

Late assignments will lose 10% for every class day that they are late. Assignments are late if they are turned in after the start of class when assignments are due.

Requirements for the Course

Class Participation

This is a discussion-based course. To promote interesting and insightful discussion, you must be prepared to discuss the assigned reading. The points will be based on in-class discussion and attendance. Class discussion points will be based on voluntary actions, such as offering your thoughts or asking questions. You will also be graded on me asking you questions in class. I will call on you and ask you questions about the reading and about your thoughts beyond the reading. So, do the reading and be prepared to answer questions.

Negative participation, i.e., non-active participation, distracting others, or not treating the course or others with respect will result in a more substantial loss of points.

NOTE: Unlike some courses, do not think participation points are a cushion or a pad to your grade. You will not get an "A" in the participation section just by doing nothing wrong. You have to earn an "A" in participation, just as you would by studying for the exams in other courses. If you don't always like to speak in class or are unable to attend a class, you can always send your thoughts on cases via email anytime throughout the semester, and you can also show up to office hours to discuss the materials.

Attendance: I consider this a professional environment. In the professional world, attendance is a requirement. That said, I understand that life happens, and, especially in 2022, family issues, health issues, and other concerns may, and do, occur. So, there are no attendance requirements, but attendance will be considered as a significant part of your Participation grade.

NOTE: Below are brief descriptions of the assignments. Full grading rubrics and assignment instructions will be handed out for each assignment during the course of the semester. You are responsible for following these assignment rubrics and requirements.

Four Cases in the News Forum Posts 100

To stay current, you'll see many classes have Cases in the News Forum Posts. An additional rubric will be posted to discuss what you should put in these posts. But, the goal these days is for you to discuss something happening in the news or relatively recently that we could discuss at the start of class on those days. We won't be able to discuss everyone's, but this will allow you to write up some thoughts and bring attention to things that are occurring.

You must do four total, though there are nine days you may post – meaning, you get to pick which days you post of those marked as forum days. Each of these posts are worth 25 points. Posts must be posted before class starts to be accepted, or they will result in a zero.

Midterm Case Study 300 Due: October 12th at 11:55pm

- A written case brief will serve as your midterm exam.
- Your brief will be graded in two parts: (1) the synopsis of the case situation/facts (30%), and (2) the analysis of the case, including course terminology (70%).
- A full grading rubric will be placed on Sakai several weeks in advance of the assignment. We will discuss it in class at length.

Final Case Study 450 Due: December 3rd at 3:00pm

- The purpose of this assignment is to act as a capstone to all that we have learned in this course. You will select another case example that is different from your midterm assignment. This assignment is longer in length, allowing you space to offer a more critical examination of your case. This occurs as you will have learned more in the semester by this point than at the time of your midterm.

You will need to:

- Identify a problem, opportunity or ethical issue that an organization (for-profit or non-profit) faced that required significant public relations involvement.
- Collect detailed, thorough background information about the organization, including its goals, mission, values, financial standing, products/services, and history.

- Collect detailed information on the issue/challenge that the organization faced.
 - Describe the public relations strategies and tactics that the organization developed and implemented to deal with the situation.
 - Identify key messages.
 - Research and analyze the media coverage, or any other relevant reaction and feedback, that the organization received as it relates to your issue.
- The above is just a summary. A full grading rubric will also be placed on Sakai several weeks in advance of the assignment.

AGAIN: NOTE ON ASSIGNMENTS: Additional Grading Rubrics will be handed out throughout the semester to assist you with your assignments; those rubrics will be the basis of your grade for each assignment, so make sure to follow those rubrics when completing assignments. The information in this syllabus merely acts as a summary of each assignment.
